Investment objective

BDL Rempart is a long/short equity fund invested in listed companies on regulated markets within the European Union and/or the OECD. Performance relies on a stock-picking process on both long and short positions, based on fundamental research and proprietary analysis. Exposure levels reflect our investment convictions.

The use of these instruments may create a leverage effect. This mechanism increases the investment capacity, but the resulting multiplier effect may lead to a higher risk of capital loss or reduced potential return.

Risk scale - SRI

Lower risk 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 Higher risk

The SRI assumes that you hold the product for the recommended minimum holding period of 3 years.

Investors' attention is drawn to the fund's risk factors, including equity risk, credit risk, liquidity risk, counterparty risk, and risks related to derivatives and trading counterparties.

Management Commentary

The BDL Rempart fund recorded a performance of -4.9% in September, in a reference market up 0.2%.

After a favourable summer, marked by a rebound in discounted quality companies, September was characterised by a sharp rotation against our positioning. The market was particularly polarised, behaving in a binary way. It sold stocks exposed to rising energy costs, French stocks and rate-sensitive names. It concentrated its buying on the entire artificial intelligence ecosystem. In this context, index performance was driven essentially by the technology, semiconductor and energy sectors, while the vast majority of sectors ended the month in negative territory. Our long book, with no exposure to artificial intelligence (AI) and oriented towards quality stocks, mechanically suffered as a result. Overall, exposure to European markets (-1.0%), the alpha of the long book (-3.5%) and that of the short book (-0.4%) all weighed on the fund's results this month.

Against this backdrop, Saint-Gobain (-0.8%) suffered from the market's perception of its exposure to gas prices and new residential construction amid rising rates, amplified by pressure on French stocks. The company is nonetheless hedged on more than 75% of its energy exposure via a rolling three-year strategy and continues to expect positive organic growth in the second half. Canal+ (-0.7%) fell on the risk of a VAT increase from 10% to 20% being considered by the French government. The adoption of this measure nonetheless remains uncertain given the many parliamentary amendments calling for its removal, and Canal+ has significant levers to absorb the impact, whether through higher subscription prices, reduced film financing or internal reorganisation measures. Scout24 (-0.4%) suffered from Meta's launch of the Muse AI agent, which revived fears of disintermediation in property search. We believe, on the contrary, that the quality of its platform positions Scout24 ideally to become the reference operating system for real estate in an agentic world. Flutter (-0.4%) was penalised by the ban on sports betting in Brazil and an unfavourable factor positioning in September. Finally, Amadeus (-0.4%) suffered from the prolongation of the conflict in the Middle East and high jet fuel prices, which are keeping air traffic slightly lower. At 14x 2027 earnings and a 6.5% free cash flow yield, the valuation has reached a historical low that does not reflect long-term growth prospects in a sector with high barriers to entry.

Glossary

Sharpe Ratio: The Sharpe ratio measures excess return relative to the risk-free rate, divided by volatility. It indicates the reward for taking risk. The higher it is, the better the risk-adjusted performance. A negative Sharpe simply means the fund is doing worse than a risk-free investment.

SICAV: Open-ended Investment Company.

Investment rate / exposure rate: The investment rate corresponds to the amount of assets invested expressed as a % of the portfolio. The exposure rate corresponds to the investment rate, plus the impact of derivative strategies. It represents the percentage of actual assets exposed to a given risk. Derivative strategies can aim to increase exposure (leverage strategy) or reduce exposure (hedging strategy) of the underlying asset.

Net Asset Value: Price of a unit (mutual fund) or share (SICAV).

Short selling: Selling forward an asset that one does not yet own, with the objective of buying it back later at a lower price to realize a gain. The potential profit is limited to the asset's value, but the risk of loss is unlimited if the price rises.
