FUND MANAGERS COMMENT

Despite the ongoing conflict in Iran, European equity markets extended their gains for a fifth consecutive month in August (Eurostoxx +1%), supported by a particularly robust quarterly earnings season. Brent crude oil ended the month nearly unchanged, around $91. In Sweden, business and consumer confidence continued to recover, driven by services and retail, while the Riksbank kept its policy rate unchanged, not ruling out a hike later in the year. In Norway, growth remained broadly in line with the Norges Bank's expectations, with the central bank keeping its policy rate unchanged while noting that underlying inflation remained too high. Against this backdrop, Nordic markets ended the month higher and outperformed the eurozone. The fund underperformed its index over the month, penalized by declines in Royal Unibrew (Beverages, Denmark), Mips (Specialized safety technologies for brain protection, Sweden), and AstraZeneca (Pharmaceuticals, UK). Conversely, it benefited from gains in Novonesis (Enzymes and food ingredients, Denmark), Epiroc (Mining equipment, Sweden), and Nibe (Heating and energy efficiency technologies, Sweden). No significant portfolio changes were made during the month.
